HALIFAX GRAMMAR SCHOOL

Tower Road Campus

Atlantic Street Campus

Dedication

When we first took on the ominous task of creating the Grammarian, many things came into our minds: would we be able to keep up with the high standards that previous editors of the yearbook had set; would we be able to create a physical manifestation of the 2000/2001 school year; would Bush beat Gore, and most importantly, whom would we dedicate the Grammarian to? Of course we met vehement support for dedicating the book to the opening of the new Tower Road Campus, and indeed, to a certain extent that sounded like a good idea. However, after careful consideration, we realized that HGS does not reap its unbridled success from new land acquisitions, or provincial level athletes. It was, moreover, the hard work and dedication of the staff whom acted as a foundation to this school over the past decade. It has been these "veterans" who have invested years of hard work and patience in the students that have walked the hollowed hallways of HGS. It is these teachers, who much like the months of the year seem to be a continuous presence in our lives, and all though the years may pass, the months remain the same, who have put up with the likes of the students that the "rookies" could never dream of, congratulations, this Grammarian is dedicated to you.

HGS Student Council

Ah, our final year has come to a close. We accomplished what we set out to do and then more. All of our dances, and there were lots, were very well attended. Everyone loved to fight in those wonderful sumo suits. And, how could we ever forget, all the fun we had at Winter Carnival. Throughout the year, your excellent participation on those wicked theme days was appreciated. Days such as Mexican Independence Day and Carnivorous animal day will forever be remembered.

Allow us in this address to thank the student body. We enjoyed planning all these great activities. Thank you for making us the most successful council yet, and we wish next year's council the best of luck. We want to thank all of our prefects for their tireless efforts as well as the student council body guard and timekeeper. We would like to thank Ms. Efimov for helping us deal with our school's wonderful administration.

As we depart we would like to leave you with some words of wisdom.

Laura Archibald

Laura moved to Halifax the summer of 2000. A few months later, she arrived at HGS and quickly learned the meaning of the word "hack", and that looking through dumpsters is actually fun.....or so they say. Over the year we all came to know the "new girl" from Miramichi. "We used to have one movie theater." "What happened, did it burn down, Ha, Ha." "Actually...". The Mercedes was also a nice feature to the graduating class, "Laura, why are you calling me about your tent in your garage?...oh, a car...WHAT?!" She will be remembered for her ability to bolt out a tune around a campfire, for drawing on her bedroom wall, and for taking our theme dances literally. Laura, no matter what you do in life you'll be successful. Good luck in the future and thanks for making Grammar great.

"Until you find something worth dying for, you're not really living."

Ian Campbell

And so it ends. A thirteen year block of my life is over. As a 'lifer' I'd like to pass on some tidbits from the graduating class: There are lots of words in the dictionary; Don't eat the ham on the floor; Don't panic, we've got it covered.

"Mine is yesterday, I know tomorrow."

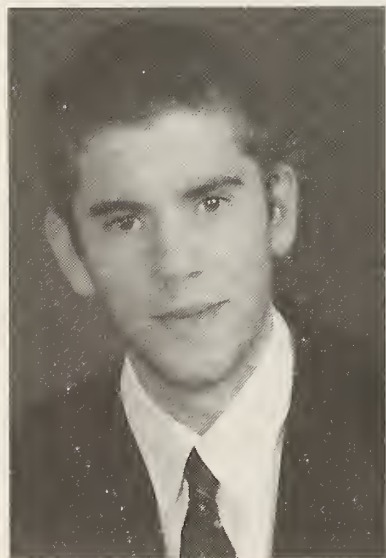

- The book of the dead

"I dig my own graves."

-Hunter S. Thompson

"So there are no more words and all is ended."

- Joseph Auslander

Tom Carling

Tom joined HGS in Grade 12. Tom is doing an English Speaking Union Scholarship, and is enjoying his time in Canada. Strangely, Tom never seemed to do any homework at his last school, and the fact he is doing only five subjects this year shows that some things never change! Tom is a keen and excellent pool player, and is now playing with the real hustlers as part of the Barrington Street Poolys team. Although highly amused by the shockingly poor imitations of the British accent, it is likely that after a trip to LA this summer, Tom will return to England to take a Business degree at either Manchester or Oxford. We wish him the best of luck and every success.

Adam Conter

Ladies and Gentlemen, here before you stands a lifer, better known as Adam B. Conter. For all of those who are unfamiliar with the term 'lifer,' it is given to the select few in the Graduating Class who have devoted their whole school career to this humble institution. Adam has been the student body engine behind the revitalization of the school's debating program, earning public speaking awards across the country since grade 7. Endowed with such a priceless talent, Conter has earned himself the honor of representing our school as Head Boy, and has been able to convince coaches to let him run cross country and play rugby! Way to go, buddy!

"Don't ever give the car keys to Alex again." - Howard Conter

"I saw a notice that said 'Drink Canada Dry,' so I started." - Brendan Behan

Will Eisenbarth

A star forward in soccer, he graced his team with goals, and was sorely missed this Year because of injury. But nonetheless would prove his worth on the ski race team. Will has been a part of the ski family for four years, and though he seemed rather Reserved, the white gold brought out the tiger....well it was more of a dingo, but Anyways...So carrying Grammar pride high, Will still found time to relax at 3 am Even if the thingy was due in 7 hours. With all the sleep time he racked up, Grammar Definitely prepared him for the real world. We will see him one day raking in lots of Money by doing nothing. "Carry that canoe high brother".

"Everything is funny as long as it is happening to somebody else." -Will Rogers

Fiona Gallacher

Fiona came to Grammar in Grade 10, and since then she has never been the same. Blockbuster will always remember you, "So I come to you, you're Erin Brockavitch?" "I was looking for my wallet but it was in my hand the whole time, and the cashier said, 'So, Anywhere But Here' and I was like, what? I hate zoning out!!" Well, Tommy didn't want anyone to like Hilfiger but it just so happens you liked that line of clothin, then there was the photographer, but all you got were the pictures, and lastly, the Doberman Pincher who would turn on you unexpectedly but because of your obsession with dogs, you would never stop playing with it. Never forget the semi where there was a gorgeous guy (in the dark) and one smelt especially good (shaken' that ass). Good luck in the future, and try to learn not to analyse things so much!

"Are your mosquito bites itchy? Well maybe they're growing. Nah..."

"Closing time, every new beginning comes from some other beginning end."

Meghan Haley

HGS Converted # 322h: Similar to others before her and many to come, Meghan came to the Grammar school with prejudice and unfound resentment. After intensive work, Meghan is another proud and smiley member of the Grammar factory. Meghan will always be remembered for her unique and cute naivete that has an uncommon purity, not often seen. Easily discernible in a large crowd with her flamboyant red mane and constant smile, Meghan fit right in with the rest of the vertically challenged in our class. A gifted pianist and a delayed proactive driver, Meghan has endless future options and will likely be the talk of the artsy crown in some major metropolitan. Meghan though, will eventually return to Halifax to settle down next to her old neighbour, David Suzuki. We all love ya Megs!

Chris Hanlon

What can we say about Chris... the list is endless, however, the wordcount for yearbook is not, and so I will summarize. Chris made a grand entrance into the Halifax Grammar School one upping the intelligence of most staff, and even some students. Needless to say, his unbridled enthusiasm met some hesitant onlookers. It was only after they realized the charm of his witty intelligence that they truly understood and accepted Chris. I am relatively sure that at this point all of us have been able to bask in the wonder of Chris, his endless reserves of information, as well as his wonderful sense of humor. He will be missed, congratulations Chris, and good luck.

Jarreau Hayward

I have known Jarreau for many years. He is one of the funniest people I know. He could make jokes about anybody or anything. If someone says something stupid or does something stupid, guaranteed Diarrhea will make fun of them. Jarreau or "Jaro The Far East Ruler", plays soccer and basketball. I remember when we used to go to the third floor of a building and throw water balloons at people. Jaro can write rap songs and do comedy just to name a few of his talents. One of the things I like most about Jaro is how he can sweet talk people, especially females. When I grow up, I want to be just like Jaro, I feel privileged to have been friends with Jaro for so long.

Ryan Hollett, A.K.A "Big Tex", "Jets"

Ryan came to HGS at the beginning of this year all the way from Texas, but we seem to already know him like he has been here for years! When he's out for the school soccer team he'll outrun every man on the field, and when he's camping he'll bake you a cake from nothing while everyone else is trying to figure out jiffy-pop. Even though Ryan was always busy with track and sports there was always time for real work, even if he had to spend all afternoon on the bottom floor of a Roots store in Montreal working on those dreaded Economics assignments. Whatever you do Ryan, we know that you are going to be the best at it....take care.

Tonya Huck

Apart from strong academics, a reputation of being the best on the field (in any sport...) and a sweet kindness that tends to be lost by some students at HGS, Tonya is so much more. When she arrived at the school she immediately went to work on three things. One: the diligent study of the HGS academic curriculum. Two: building her empire as the female student to receive the most sports awards in the most sports in the history of the school. Finally, three: to enjoy herself. Apparently she has accomplished all three of these goals, so to you, Tonya, we bid farewell, congratulations, and, when you're on the podium in the 2012 Olympics, remember us, just as we will remember you.

Mahmood Hussain

"Knows a lot about a lot." Asian Mafia Sun-Lieutenant. An honorary girl. Buff-master. Yellow. Brown. Blue. Gray. The Dictionary Man (he knows every word). Eloquent. Articulate. A social debutante. "Oh God." The Buddha of HGS. ACG. The human manifestation of sarcasm. "That weird Asian guy." (joke). "Mahmood is the MAN!!!" The Mellow Yellow. Filipino. Sings like a bird. Musically talented. Urban. Ethnically charged. Hilarious. Excellence. The Thinker. "Praise Moodha." A dapper debonair... a cool genius.

Caroline Jaya

As a new addition to the class Caroline continuously surpassed any expectations of just how academically strong a student could be. She has achieved success in all areas of school, and will undoubtedly carry on that success in life. Good luck Caroline, and congratulations.

Ricardo J. Johan

Ricardo J. Johan known as Edo came to the school for grade ten in '97, and joined the graduating class in grade eleven. When he first came, Edo, spoke stilted English and had seen very little of North American culture: as the first and subsequent years went by, Edo became close friends with Bartholomew Furrow, Khaled Shaheen, and others. His language skills developed immensely, and he was quickly assimilated by our insidious culture. Becoming part of Canada and a part of Grammar School so well is perhaps Edo's greatest accomplishment, but it is closely followed by another of his activities; since he first came to Canada, Edo has been training in Shotokan style karate, where his karate classmates have long recognized him to be "good". After gaining his brown belt, he began to be seen as "really, really good": but in Thanksgiving of 2000, Edo preferment to the peak of his abilities, going to the national tournament and earning his black belt. Over the same weekend, he earned a bronze medal in one of his events- an amazing achievement for a first time competitor and nothing short of incredible for the only brown belt competing among a field of more practised opponents. A clever scholar, a great friend, and an incredible karateka, Edo will contribute well wherever he goes.

Aaron Johnstone

Aaron made his presence felt in grade 10 and since then, he has been involved in every activity that he could possibly do. He has been a part of the basketball and soccer crew his entire time here, making them the most competitive teams ever. Aaron always seemed to have the competitive spirit that helped raise the team to a higher level, and helped you to find energy to play when you just don't have any! Aaron is most often found harassing Fiona, or blocking traffic in our schools small halls. There was never a quiet day at school if Aaron was there. If we needed notes at a moment notice before a big test, Aaron was the man to go to. We don't really know where he'd get all these notes from though... Anyway, but Aaron has other talents too, such as his ability to draw images on the ground with lighter fluid and then light it! He has made the school a better and more interesting place to be; the school and the class will miss him dearly. Nothing's holding you down...touch the sky!

Dean Jones

I've known this man for 8 years of my life and he has grown to be one of my best friends. I remember when he had an afro boxy and I had a basic (those are haircuts). I met him when we were about 8. When we went to swim camp together (he couldn't swim but I could, what a loser!). Dean is a character and a funnyman with many talents. We were the hottest DJ's in our old school, Sizzlin Gilligan and Jaro. This man is a ladies man so if he doesn't speak to you he has bigger and better things to worry about. So please don't be offended by it!

Alex Kitz

Alex first stepped into the Grammar School while the 80s were winding down in all aspects except our teacher's hair styles, which remained strictly familiar to that decade. Since those first days in elementary school Alex has gotten larger and our teacher's hair smaller. As Alex's size increased so did his abilities, and his gifts. The unbridled enthusiasm which so many people grow out of, is exactly what Alex grew into. Alex has left his mark on this school, and by that I don't mean urine, but rather a reputation of originality. He has represented the school in such academic events as the Commonwealth, United Nations and Debating, where he argued his moral altitudes and suggest global reforms. His well rounded personality includes an athletic side, a need for speed, in such sports as cross country, track, or ski racing. He was also a humble leader, and a role model for the student body, by being vice-president of finance for the student council. Yeah, and he drives a beige Mercedes station wagon.

"It bugs people that I talk to myself, but that's probably because I use a megaphone."

Cindy Kurniawan

As a new addition to the class Cindy brought an academic knowledge like no other. She has had unbridled success at HGS, and especially in math, prompting Mr. Boyle to use her assignments as examples of how the assignments should be done. We wish you well.

Anne-Claire Larochette

Anne-Claire (a.k.a. Ace, Anne The Man, Acehole, "Hey you behind the bushes!") came to HGS after a sad departure from her beloved QE. Fortunately for her, Ace inherently has the bitter, dry wit and biting sarcasm characteristic of Grammar and so has adapted very well and made many lasting friendships. She is known as Grammar's best psychoanalyst, as she is a great listener and always gives sound advice. Anne-Claire is known to the teachers as having an "attitude problem" and also has made Mr. Moffat cry on several occasions. When Ace is not helping her friends, making teachers cry, or running off with the school's resident Acadian, Anne-Claire is actively involved in school life. Not only is she the rugby team's #1 fan, she is also one of the soccer team's best defenders (she is also a yearbook editor, so I can't say anything bad). We wish her the best of luck in NYC where she will become a famous journalist, but she will be sorely missed "back home, in the motherland."

Patrick LeGay

"Patrick LeGay...'Yup... hey, pass that over here.' 'k... yeah, I remember that dude.' 'Yeah, I kinda do too, but it's hard to remember stuff now...' 'Why's he wearing that tuxedo?' 'I dunno... he always wore weird clothes.' 'Yeah... that retro crap.' 'He looks like he's stuck in that bookshelf!' 'He must be formally hunting books!' 'HAHAHA! He was one of those guys who had that really sarcastic sense of humor.' 'Yeah... I miss being made fun of by him, what a joker!' 'I don't- I have my aunt to do that, I hate my damn aunt!' 'Yeah man, your aunt's fucked in the head.' 'HEY- SHUT THE HELL UP!!!!' 'What??? I thought you said you hated her!' 'Oh yeah... I thought you were talking about my other aunt.' 'No, no man, she's cool... Anyway, that Patrick LeGay dude was a character.' 'Yeah... I'm mega hungry.' 'Me too, I'm starving... let's go play some pool.' 'Okay... I'll bring my flashlight.'"

Simon Li

Simon Li made his entrance at HGS in Grade 9, ever since his intelligence, personality, and humor has been appreciated. Besides Simon being an excellent student he also was a constant source of laughter in and out of class. He was very opinionated and always had a voice in any discussion he was around, but always added a very humorous touch. Simon was a great character, he had a great personality. Even though Simon was one of the youngest students in our class he was one of the best students in the graduating class. Simon will be missed by everyone and we all hope he has a great life after HGS.

Karman Lock

Although one can never get enough of life attending SH, Karman decided it was time for a change in grade 10 after 10 full years at that wacky (yet wonderful) school. Although we were all fairly concerned about her at numerous times during these past three years at Grammar, she always managed to somehow pull up her marks just enough to get through (yeah right...)

In all seriousness though, everything we've learned about Karman we respect and admire and that which we don't yet know will never fail to surprise and impress us.

Martin Mallet

Martin was forced upon us good people here at the Grammar School in the beginning of Grade Ten. If you haven't gotten to know him yet, I feel bad for you. Despite being dubbed as 'Spikey-Haired Evil DartmouthGrenouille Boy,' Martin is in fact not evil. Sure he may never give up an argument - I pity those poor fools in TOK last year - and he may have no restraint in telling you that you are an idiot - but usually in these cases, you are either wrong, or an idiot. (Usually a combination thereof)

One day, after winning a Biological Nobel Prize and having rewritten the theory of evolution-correcting all of Darwin's inconsistencies- Martin will probably never forget the grammar school, and return to give generously to the Capital Campaign (Look Dr Chapman, verbal irony.) Merde à la troisième.

Rahia Mashoodh

Rahia came to Grammar in Grade 11 and didn't really say much for the majority of the year, okay well all of it. Her achievements in the classroom can be accredited to insomnia, yoga, and large amounts of caffeine. Unfortunately she lacks the physical coordination to play team sports, let's face it she can't even walk straight without hitting something, therefore limiting her extra-curricular activities to math extra help. If her plans on becoming a communist leader become unsuccessful she is most likely to make millions of dollars as some sort of chain-smoking stockbroker.

Ryan Misener

Ryan came to the Grammar School a cheerful lad, full of potential, wonder, and goodwill toward mankind. A six year stay at the Grammar School transformed that Ryan into the cynical, quick witted destroyer of worlds whose company we so enjoy. Ryan's prowess in extreme math and debating accomplishments have been a great asset to the school (much to his chagrin) but his abilities are a double edged sword as he frequently unleashes these skills on hapless staff members (especially ones from New Zealand). Ryan is also extremely comical and is well known for his antics and attacks on people with fragile self-esteem ('burn the witch', 'right?' 'well, um, hm', 'shut up Chris!') Ryan will probably succeed in whatever he does and we wish him the best of luck. "Life is what happens to you while you're busy making other plans." -John Lennon "They hate you if you're clever, and they despise a fool..." -John Lennon "Life makes no sense, but neither do I, so we get along great." -Me

Anuradha Mishra

Contrary to popular belief. Anuradha is actually a pseudonym for Nouille Nischer, And A.N.U (Nouille's nickname) is actually an acronym for assiduous, noble and Umber; however, some argue that it's actually acolyte, nabob and unparallel. Nevertheless, both sets are accurate descriptions of A.N.U. and her character. Her Academic career has been marked by her unremitting attention and unfaltering Dedication. Her academic devotion begat a notoriety of being a "go-to keener", One who you could rely on for fastidious and neat notes. In other regards, Anu Has an honorable character with an unmatched sincerity. Anu, don't forget to Save up for that ACG gear to store in your communal closet, the words to "Get off my property", to claim the "comfy spot" on the ship ride home, and to proudly wear the "brown crown". -'Mood

Brigid Nee

When we first met Brigid in Grade 11, we thought she was kinda like a pretzel in a bag of Party Mix. But then we got to know her and now she's like one of those spicy ringaloes. Friday nights, seems to be the best night for us, WINNERS! We were 10 minutes too late to having a good night, dang. Brigid will always be remembered for her jobs, taking care of many dogs and cats. There were many people who were privileged enough to join her on her awe inspiring walks. Wow 30 minutes of paradise! There was the misunderstanding with Megan... "It's your turn", and never forget, " Yeah he's cute but I think he's married to Kim, he he!" and the drive home from provincials, with the guys in the other van. I wish I could understand why Brigid liked pink-stone olives in her salads so much, of all the vegetables in there, she chose the chubby ones. Thanks for being such an awesome friend, and I know you'll succeed in whatever you do.

"... Stop the rumble"

Andrea Norman

Andrea came to HGS in grade ten. She will be remembered for her intelligence, her enormous effort in school, and most of all, for her love of kids. Although when not babysitting or working, she spent a significant amount of time reading the manifestos of a certain Matthew Good and creating a novel of her own "manifestos". Having interests in both interior designs and kids, Andrea is still contemplating what to do post-high school, but whatever path she chooses, she will find success.

"That which is imagined need never be lost"

—Courtney Love

"The past is a manifesto. So follow only those footsteps that do not end at the edge of large holes"

—Matthew Good

Andy Norman

Normy, Beck, The God of Fire, Normy, Mr. Norman, or just plain old Normy, take your choice, because throughout his illustrious career at the school he's been referred to as all of them. Sometimes it's easy to forget just how long Andy has been at the school, this is a good example of one of those times.... Then we take a look back to 1991, and there his trip begins, and what a long strange trip it's been. A full decade of requests for him to have "respectable" hair, to dress "appropriately", and to "take things seriously". Yet Normy has been a survivor, even during his brief stint at RCS Netherwood in Grade 11 (see Grammarian 2000). Through it all Normy has acted as an inspiration to us all, with a great mind, a big heart, and even bigger hair. Good luck Normy, catch you on the flip side dude... and everybody laughed.

Noah Pink

Noah is one of those rare individuals who genuinely sees laughter as the reasonable response to the chaos that defines life for the rest of us. King of the non sequitur, he possesses the unique ability to ask the most incongruous and baffling questions in class and yet produce an astute response at the moment when it matters most. Often underestimated, Noah is for better or worse both the intellectual heart of this graduating class and its emotional anchor. He will no doubt be eminently successful in some field where cheerful confusion and well-timed guile are rewarded. Politics perhaps.

"If you are going to take the time and energy to bend over and tie your shoes, you might as well make double knots." - Unknown

Peter Race

Peter also known as 'guy in the Navy' came to Grammar in Grade 10. He soon became an active member in the school scene. Not only was he a bright student (keener), he also played a prominent role on the track team (with a name like Race where else would you expect him to be?). His sometimes studly presence can be accredited to his alter ego Bond, Peter Bond. Peter is most likely to become the next Bill Gates but if that doesn't work out he'll probably be running Canada's Navy (basically a fascist dictator). Either way he'll sill is missed.

Paul Radchuck

Good ole Paul can be seen cruse'n around town in a bomb caravan and it ain't no regular minivan, pick'n up the ladies. Always fashionably at school, Paul can be found in the Common Room (or anywhere else) just chill'n. After every summer, Paul would return to HGS with a dark tan from sail'n and kick'n it at the Weag. We can't forget those soccer trips... steal'n cushions... you know the rest. My main line of defense at the back line on the soccer field and the only Dawg to make fun of CDS's forwards with me. Gyeah. Our group of three was reduced to a "duo" (after the loss of Rene, peace to Big Pun up there), but we're survive'n. Just remember... Holla Holla.

Richard Roda

"Richard go home!" After thirteen years, he finally can. Richard is a prime example of the select group of lifers at HGS. He was part of the soccer, basketball, and our famed HGS hockey team. For Dick, as we call him, academics were always of a high standard. Thanks for keeping us laughing throughout the years either at you or with you, and remember: never give up an argument even when you were very, very wrong.

-Albert von Szent-Gyorgyi, 1893-1986

Debbie Schwartz

Debbie is the last of the Schwartz clan to grace our hallways. Debs came to the school a few years ago from "Somewhere Out There Junior High", in Cowland...or a village more commonly referred to as Chezzetcook. Debbie's vivacity and ear to ear grin (among other things) won her many friends on and off the playing field. Famous for her sincere concern for your mother, her appreciation of snow (spending her whole Mt. St. Anne ski trip studying it in depth....especially in the ditches), laughter induced facial collapses, story openers, curiosity for your wares ("So...what have ya got for me?"), sexual outbursts, big daddy specials, 12:30 positioning, and out of the way festivities; Debbie was an important character in our graduating class. She'll no doubt be successful in her international ventures, so go get 'em you filthy GW! -Mood.

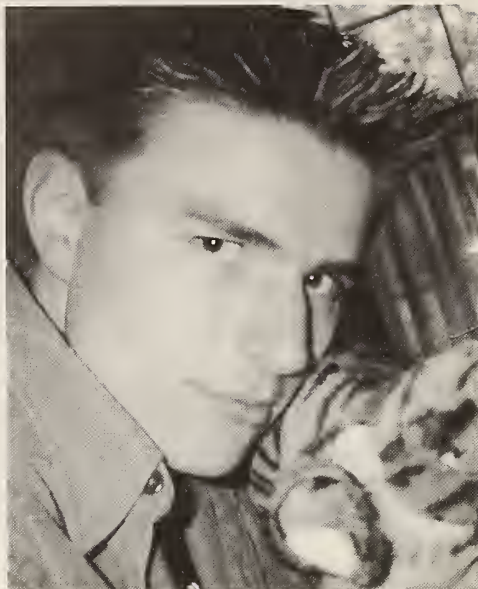

"I'm still Alive" Eddie Vedder, Pearl Jam

"We can't all stay here forever, so I'll write my words on the face of today, until they paint it." Shannon Hood, Blind Melon

"Everything I just said has absolutely nothing to do with what I meant to say..." Debbie Schwartz

James Schwartz

By far, the second best Schwartz in the world (ahem), James has been going to Grammar since he was a wee lad. We at Grammar can confidently say that James is one of, no excuse me, the only lifer who had not gone clinically insane (sorry HGS). James will be most remembered for his contribution to the illustrious HGS ski team. He will also be fondly remembered for his cynical wit, which was so greatly appreciated, especially by Dr. Chapman. I see James's future bright with three options: a quanta mechanic computer nerd, a Hugo Boss model, or head manager of Boy Scouts Canada. Despite James's hardcore music collection, he is one of the most kind-hearted listeners whose constant collection of price club quantity baby crackers will be truly missed. Good Luck Schwartz #2.

"Oh Father of the four winds, fill my sails, across the sea of years, With no provision but an open face, across the straits of fear" -Robert Plant

"Pay the price, for nothing's fair" - James Hetfield

"The secret of success is to know something nobody else knows." - Aristotle

Priya Shukla

If we had to describe Priya in one sentence, it would be... "she is the Ralph of our class". Priya can be noted for her excellent ability to ask "stupid" questions. Priya came to the Grammar family when she was in grade 10 with glasses and her nails painted black. Every week, she would come to school with her hair a different color and a collection of Indian food in it to feed an army! We will always remember Priya for her volcanic sneezes, which never fail to knock her and those around her off their feet. She is also the inventor of the clever manipulation tactic, fondly referred to as "pulling a Priya". She has a great love for making fun of her friends, especially those who "don't quite consider this an elevator...". Despite resembling the much loved Simpson's character, Priya is one of the more intelligent persons I know, who actively participates in several school activities and never fails to be a good friend. Good luck as a lawyer in New York! I luf 2 luf U babecee!

P.S "Priya...what are you looking at?" and, oh yes, the infamous "Pwiya...it hurts.."

"Image is Imagination, reality is barely revealed." - GH

"We do not see things the way they are, we see things the way we are." - Unknown

Ryrie Vandewater

In three or so years that I have known this guy, he has changed from a goofy awkward teenager to a man among boys (only in terms of height). On a serious note, Ryrie is one of the nicest guys at HGS... unless you get on his bad side (never make fun of him... never). This year, Ryrie is one of the most senior players on the varsity Basketball squad, a spot which he definitely deserved in light of his years of dedication and hard work. His exploits off the court include driving his dad's lex, chillin' and learning the tricks of the restaurant industry. Ryrie's cheffing abilities show great promise, as do his abilities to make hilarious statements in physics class (don't worry dude, they were laughing with you!) Ryrie is sure to bring character to whatever college he goes to, and will always be a dependable and likeable guy.

"Our greatest glory is not in never failing but in rising each time we fall."

Headmaster's Message

To an extent, leadership is like beauty: it's hard to define, but you know it when you see it.
Warren Bennis, on becoming a leader.

With a unique history, the Class of 2001 has provided many examples of leadership over the past year. The class is ample proof of the fact that schools do not teach leadership, but simply provide opportunities for it to flourish. Sometimes the opportunity is provided unintentionally - witness the Coke vending decision. But I believe the culture of this school does purposely encourage initiative, risk-taking, responsibility, persistence, adaptability, self-reliance, understanding and assertiveness - all powerful nouns that describe leadership.

There is a very simple example of leadership in 1940s movie, The African Queen. In this Academy Award winning film, Katharine Hepburn asks Humphrey Bogart, the captain of the African Queen, why the engine was running since they were going downstream with the current. Bogey told her, "If you want to steer the boat, you have to be going faster than the river." Bogey was in charge, not the river. When I think of this class, I can think of so many members of it traveling faster than the current. Aaron, Paul and Jarreau, in their relentless quest for a soccer championship; Ryan's quite pursuit of math competition supremacy; Dean and Ryrie's commitment to a basketball title; Tonya's quiet dominance in every sports arena into which she ventured; Richard, Alex and Meghan's ground-breaking artwork; Tex Ryan's sudden emergence as a star on the rugby pitch; Mahmood, Laura and Adam's awesome performances in Anything Goes; and, finally, Debbie Schwartz who convinced the Rotary Club to award an exchange scholarship after they decided not to, and then so impressed them that they gave it to her. We have had a wonderful year thanks, in large part, to the leadership provided by the class of 2001. You will be missed.

Editors' Message

Hello Grammarians!! If our suspicions are correct, most of you probably used the summer for relaxing and partying, but also to block the events of the past school year from your memories. Therefore, we have compiled this extraordinary yearbook (People @ magazine called the Grammarian "...yearbook of the year!") to jog your memory. Although it took A LOT of work, we are beamingly proud of the finished product and we would like to thank those who have helped us along the way: first and foremost, Ms. Silver, who has been our most trusted advisor (not to mention the best liar in the world!); Lori Saunders and Gay Silverman for putting up with us and letting us take over their office, as well as allowing us to ruin their photographic archives; Fiona, Laura and Brigid for being the most involved editors of our "committee", and for doing a wicked job on the sports section; Debbie and Alex for being enthusiastic and a big help when we so desperately needed it; and to everyone else who dropped in to give us a hand throughout the year.

We have had an awesome graduating year and we hope that this book accurately reflects the spirit and excitement from the past ten months. We hope that you will all have as much fun reading it as we have had making it!

Priya and Anne-Claire

P.S. Good luck to the next yearbook staff (you're going to need it!)

May truth be found,
And thoughts abound,
Of a once wondering soul.
That wonders no more
And ponders no more
The journey is all that was to be found.
